Interest Rate & Charges Guide for Personal Banking

Effective from November 2009

Your Guide to our charges for personal accounts.

If you have a personal account with us, this guide tells you everything that you need to know about our main fees and charges. Please read it carefully and keep it for future reference.

When charges are applied

Different fees are taken from your account at different times. For example, regular fees like the service charge will be debited from your account in arrears at the beginning of each year.

However, there are some charges that are made at the time we provide you with the service. Other charges such as unplanned overdraft fees are usually calculated on a quarterly basis and debited from your account on the first working day of the next quarter. We will always let you know the amount before they are taken from your account.

If you change an account of service that has a regular fee attached to it part way through your billing period, we will only charge you for the time that you have actually had it.

Borrowing from us through an overdraft

An overdraft is where we are willing to lend you money through your current account and fall into two categories;

- Planned overdrafts, and
- Unplanned overdrafts

If you are over 18 and decide that you need an overdraft, you can ask us in advance for a planned overdraft or to increase an existing planned overdraft.

The amount that we are prepared to lend will depend upon our assessment of your personal circumstances. Türkiye İş Bankası takes its responsibilities as a lender seriously and we only want you to borrow what you can afford.

If you try to make a payment from your account without ensuring that there are sufficient funds in the account to meet the payment, then we will either agree to an unplanned overdraft covering the payment or you will not be able to make the payment. Fees will normally be charged in either case. Please see condition 13 in the General Terms and Conditions – Personal Banking, for more details.

You will also normally be charged interest if you use either a planned or unplanned overdraft.

†Effective as at 1/11/2009.

An unplanned overdraft continues on until it is repaid which means that if at the start of a new month you still have an unplanned overdraft from the previous month you will incur a further monthly administration fee.

Declined payments

Where you do not have enough available money on your account to make a payment (however the request is received) and we do not agree to provide you with or extend an unplanned overdraft, you will not be able to make that payment. We will write to inform you we have declined your request. We will charge the following fee.

Declined Payment Fees
We will charge you £20 for each declined payment up to a maximum of three fees per day.

Avoiding overdraft fees

If your sterling account goes over its limit, you will have until 4.00pm (UK time) that day to pay or transfer enough funds to cover all of your payments. If you do, you will not be subject to overdraft fees.

The money you pay in must be available for immediate use. For example, by paying cash in over the counter or by making a transfer from another personal account you hold with us.

The UK cheque clearing process

Cheques have to be processed through the clearing system so that the amount that you pay in to your account may not be available for immediate use. The clearing cycle means that when you pay in a sterling cheque from another UK bank;

- We will show the cheque in your account on the same day that we receive it;
- If your account earns interest we will start paying interest on the cheque from the fourth working day after we receive it;
- We will use it to reduce the interest you pay from the fourth working day after we receive it;
- You will be able to use the funds from the fourth working day after we receive it; and
- From the end of the sixth working day after we receive it, if the cheque is returned unpaid by the paying bank, we cannot take money from your account without your consent unless you have acted fraudulently.
